Safe Space to Explore the World

Nurick's customer base includes everyone from Turkish immigrants to the parents whose little ones struggle with reading. A customer came in one day with his young son. "My son hates to read," the father told her. "The little boy looked up at me," she explained, "And when I asked what kind of things he liked, he replied, I don't like to read books." Nurick she smiled and reached for the children's book Dragon Breath by Ursula Vernon, a book she knew was perfect for the child.

"As we were reading, I noticed his eyes sort of brighten up and I thought to myself, 'Gotcha!'"

The boy's father whispered, thank you."
