REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS AND PROPOSALS
Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan
and Program Environmental Impact Report

I. OVERVIEW: REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS/PROPOSALS

The City of Riverside ("City") is seeking a consultant team to work with the Northside Neighborhood community, and lead the creation and preparation of the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan. The consultant team will also prepare the Northside Specific Plan Program Environmental Impact Report (PEIR), for approval of the City of Riverside and the City of Colton.

A successful consultant team will have a diverse background with proven experience in asset-based community engagement, meeting facilitation, urban design, land use planning, real-estate economics and economic development, environmental and historic preservation, mobility, and infrastructure upgrades.

This solicitation will occur in two steps. First there will be a review of the qualifications of all responding consulting firms, from which the City will select a short list of finalists. Subsequently the City will invite the short listed finalists to submit proposals for the preparation of the specific plan and PEIR. Therefore, this solicitation is both a Request for Qualifications (RFQ) and a subsequent Requests for Proposals (RFP). Please note that all consulting firms interested in this project must submit a Statement of Qualifications (SOQ) during the first phase, which must be accompanied by a brief synopsis of how they will implement the project and an estimated budget. Further information regarding the project and the Northside Neighborhood is discussed in Section IV below.

The entire selection process for this project will feature four key phases: (1) Evaluation of qualifications and concept approach; (2) Evaluation of refined project proposals; (3) Consultant interviews and final selection; and (4) Contract negotiation and execution. The timeline in Section II below is provided as a quick reference to key dates and milestones. Additional details about this process, the submittal requirements and evaluation criteria are discussed in Sections VIII and IX below.

III. INTRODUCTION

The City of Riverside is a charter city located in Riverside County, California, approximately 55 miles east of Los Angeles (Figure 1). With a total land area of approximately 52,170 gross acres or 81.5 square miles and a population of over 300,000 people, the rapidly growing City of Riverside currently ranks as the 12th largest city in California, 6th in Southern California, and is the largest city within what is known as Southern California's Inland Empire.

Riverside is home to four internationally recognized universities and colleges which support an estimated 60,000+ students. The University of California, Riverside, California Baptist University, La Sierra University, and Riverside City College, offer specialized training, research partnerships, and a high-technology environment to support emerging and innovative companies.

Riverside enjoys a rich multi-cultural heritage with influences reflected in the City's architecture, cuisine, arts, and civic life. Riverside has evolved from a quiet agricultural colony into a dynamic, active city, and a hub for higher education, technology, commerce, law, government, finance and culture. Riversiders enjoy many artistic venues from excellent film, dance and symphony to art, museums, and theater.

An important part of what makes Riverside a special place to live is its abundance of historic resources. Preservation of these resources fosters civic and neighborhood pride and forms the basis for identifying and maintaining community character. With this understanding, the City of Riverside has developed a historic preservation program which is among the most active and well-respected in California.

For the past 100 years, comprehensive city planning has been a common practice in the City of Riverside. Beginning in 1915 with the formation of one of the first planning commissions in the State and subsequent adoption of one of the first comprehensive plans, Riverside was a pioneer of the early city planning movement in California. The Master Plan of the City from 1928-29, drafted by prominent West Coast planner Charles Cheney, included a Traffic Street Plan along with Recreation, Civic Center and Regional Plans that are, to this day, manifested in Riverside's built environment. Similarly, Riverside's natural features as well as its agricultural land have been effectively preserved through the growth management initiatives of the 1970s.

Focused comprehensive planning efforts have also been effectively implemented to guide development in target areas throughout the City. Beginning in the 1980s through early 2000s, Specific Plans in the Hunter Business Park, Marketplace, University Avenue and Downtown areas of the City have been instrumental in facilitating infill development, adaptive reuse of historic buildings and improving aging infrastructure. In recent times, Riverside continues to put comprehensive planning at the forefront of the planning process. In 2007, the City adopted the General Plan 2025, an award-winning visionary plan built on Smart Growth principles. Truly a comprehensive plan, the General Plan 2025 includes elements in neighborhood planning, urban design, air quality, education, arts and culture, and historic preservation – it is featured as a model on the California Planning Roundtable’s Reinventing the General Plan website (www.reinventingthegeneralplan.org).

While rich in history, Riverside is investing in the future. Through the Riverside Renaissance, the City has invested billions of dollars in infrastructure improvements to serve residents and businesses well into the future – beginning in 2006 and completed largely by 2011, the City undertook a 5-year effort to complete 30 years’ worth of infrastructure investment. The uniqueness of Riverside comes from its people, “Riversiders,” and the strong collaborative partnerships that exist among civic, cultural, educational and business leaders – as demonstrated by Riverside’s unparalleled Seizing Our Destiny program (www.seizingourdestiny.com).

IV. PROJECT SUMMARY

As stated in Section I above, the City of Riverside is seeking a consultant team with backgrounds in asset-based community engagement, meeting facilitation, urban design, land use planning, real-estate economics and economic development, environmental and historic preservation, mobility, and infrastructure upgrades. Interested firms are encouraged to submit a Statement of Qualifications (SOQ) for the development of a Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan and related Program Environmental Impact Report (PEIR). The Northside Neighborhood, as defined in the City of Riverside general Plan 2025, encompasses approximately 1,423-acres, which is roughly 2.7% of the City’s area (Figure 2). This area does not include portions of the project located in the City of Colton.

The Northside Neighborhood as defined within the City’s General Plan 2025 is bounded by Interstate 215 to the east, State Route-60 to the south, the Santa Ana River to the west and the City limits to the north. The Northside Neighborhood contains a wide variety of uses, including single-family residences in semi-rural settings and traditional suburban subdivisions, apartments, parks and recreation facilities, as well as industrial, commercial and office development.

At minimum, the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan will include the properties within the Northside Neighborhood, as reflected in the City's adopted General Plan, and depicted in Figure 2. Additionally, the specific plan analysis will need to consider properties south of the 60 freeway, and east of the 215 freeway, as there are areas outside the General Plan's defined boundaries of the Northside Neighborhood that are intertwined with the Northside Neighborhood; either through a shared history, community identity, or commerce, as well as areas that serve as gateways to the Northside Neighborhood. Of particular interest to the Specific Plan effort is the residential neighborhood east of the 215 freeway, bounded by Columbia Avenue and the railroad tracks; and the commercial properties on Main Street, south of the 60 freeway. The Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan effort must include an analysis of nearby properties and a recommendation of their inclusion.

The Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan effort will also include properties north of the Northside Neighborhood shown in Figure 2. This is because the plan needs to include a 227-acre property known as Pellissier Ranch (Figure 3), which is undeveloped land owned by the Riverside Public Utilities. Through this specific plan effort the City will be evaluating potential uses for the site as a way to determine market value of the asset while acting in the best interest of the ratepayers. As part of the process, the City may consider a variety of actions, including, but not limited to, a negotiated sale, long-term lease, long-term preservation, or perhaps other entitlement mechanisms that are acceptable to the community and meet the statutory requirements associated with ratepayer investments. The Specific Plan effort should also consider the properties within the City of Colton that are located between the City of Riverside boundary and the Pellissier Ranch property, but not owned by the City of Riverside. These parcels are to be included in the assessment of existing conditions, infrastructure and market analysis, as well as the community engagement process; but may be removed from the boundaries of the final Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan if the community, property owners or City of Colton are not in support of their rezoning.

It is worthwhile to note that a Community Plan was adopted for the Northside in 1991, including the Pellissier Ranch property. This plan was prepared to improve the overall appearance of the Northside through upgraded development standards and a stronger code enforcement program. The Northside Community Plan set forth guidelines, goals, and policies for the orderly development of the various land uses in the area based on community input. The Community Plan was later superseded with the adoption of General Plan 2025 in 2007, at which time the Community Plan's goals and policies were incorporated into the most recent Land Use and Urban Design Element (Northside Neighborhood, pp LU-105 to LU-110). These policies and objectives focus on the maintenance and improvement of park and recreation facilities, preservation of long established residential uses, and enhancement of the small, yet economically successful, commercial and industrial sites. Like the General Plan 2025, the 1991 Northside Community Plan is an important resources for the selected consultant to review, in order to gain a better understanding of the community context.

While emphasizing a balanced community is important, it is recognized that office, industrial and commercial uses can encroach on residential neighborhoods if not carefully planned. The Northside community has expressed concerns about quality of life issues such as increased traffic, objectionable odors, and noise disturbances associated with non-residential uses. The community has specifically expressed a particular concern that continued and additional industrial, warehouse, and manufacturing development would increase vehicular traffic on streets with existing residential uses, such as Center Street, Orange Street and Columbia Avenue. These streets provide access to Interstate 215 and State Highway 60; therefore vehicular traffic, especially large trucks, could have a significant impact on said the residential streets, and generate additional noise, odors and emissions not appropriate for residential neighborhoods.

A major concern of the Riverside community is the future of the Ab Brown Sports Complex and former Riverside Golf Course, which constitute 179-acres of vacant or underutilized City-owned property in the heart of the Northside Neighborhood (Figure 3). As with Pellissier Ranch, these properties are being evaluated for their value based on potential land uses and possible reuse through a lease, sale, preservation, or other entitlement. The potential reuse is of concern to the residents because of the properties' size and central locations have the opportunity to define the future of the Northside Neighborhood and the investment on nearby properties. Because the properties are underutilized and owned by the City (RPU), the City Planning Division intends to obtain community input and develop a community-based vision for the properties.

Concern also exists pertaining to the area surrounding the Ab Brown Sports Complex and former Riverside Golf Course, which currently contains many vacant or underutilized properties, including land zoned for industrial and warehouse uses (BMP - Business and Manufacturing Park and I – General Industrial). These properties represent opportunities for catalyst projects and significant private investment in the area. A community visioning process is to be included in the Specific Plan effort to determine the mix of uses that best preserves the neighborhood identity while encouraging private investment, job creation, and increased property values. The intent is to balance the broad range of community objectives for the area, while ensuring the privately owned properties can accommodate attractive and well-designed projects that are economically viable, integrated and complimentary to the Northside Neighborhood, and serves the needs of local residents.

The Northside Neighborhood Specific Plan will be based on a combination of community visioning exercises, an evaluation of site-specific strengths and weaknesses, and technical analyses. The intended outcome is a regulatory document that facilitates and encourages future use and development of vacant and underutilized properties in a manner that reflects the community-based vision. This document will also be instrumental in guiding any future use or sale of the City-owned properties.

Additionally, the City recently adopted the Riverside Restorative Growthprint (RRG), which is a policy framework for reducing greenhouse gas emissions through market driven economic opportunities. The selected consultant will be expected to identify solutions during the planning process that reduce greenhouse gas emissions across all four emission sectors, which include (1) energy, (2) transportation and land use, (3) water and (4) solid waste. These solutions must be a balanced and diverse approach that guides future investments consistent with the RRG's top ten Entrepreneurial Opportunity Areas (EOAs), and include private and public investments opportunities in the Northside Neighborhood that reduce greenhouse gas emissions while enhancing the community's quality of life and the area's natural environment.

V. APPROACH

The City fully expects that the development of the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan will run concurrently with the completion of a Program Environmental impact Report (PEIR) to ensure timely and efficient completion and adoption. The project would begin immediately upon contract approval, with an anticipated completion date, including City Council approvals and CEQA clearance, within 18-20 months. The City recognizes the aggressive timeline for this effort and is seeking a consultant team that has a demonstrated track record of similar projects.

Through the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan, the City of Riverside intends to develop an illustrated community vision that is developed through extensive, intense, public outreach and collaboration – the effort must be clearly community-based every step of the way. The resulting regulations and standards within the specific plans will be presented in both a written format and clearly drawn diagrams, and other visuals. Although a form-based code may be considered for the Specific Plan, staff initially believes a hybrid approach may be appropriate (one that incorporates desired form, scale and character through an illustrative nature typical of a form-based code, but with the flexibility found in traditional zoning).

The intent of incorporating form-based elements into the Specific Plan is to address community concerns related to the public realm, open space, land use, and community aesthetics in a holistic manner, while providing residents, business owners, and developers predictability for the future development of the neighborhood.

The goals for the creation of the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan are to:

- Define a community-based vision for the planning area;
- Preserve and protect existing neighborhoods, uphold historic preservation, accommodate mobility choices, and facilitate great public realms;
- Evaluate natural, cultural, and historic resources and identify opportunities for enhancement and integration into future development through a built-in mitigation program.
- Prepare development standards for an appropriate mix of uses that implement the vision;
- Apply scenario development and modeling tools to express the varying impacts of development and infrastructure investment choices; and
- Attain program-level CEQA clearance and expedited project review for vision-consistent projects.

Specific outcomes and deliverables from the selected consultant include, but are not limited to:

- A public engagement work plan that identifies community workshops that enable all interested parties the opportunity to provide input into the planning process and identifies key stakeholder groups;
- A coordinated consensus between the cities of Riverside and Colton on land use and development standards for the RPU-owned Pellissier Ranch property and unincorporated private property between the Riverside/Colton boundary and the RPU property;
- A market analysis that describes what is possible in terms of existing economic, demographic, and real estate trends;
- A comprehensive historic context analysis of the Northside, including but not limited to the Trujillo Adobe (believed to be the oldest existing structure in Riverside County) and related resources;
- A cursory hydrologic analysis of the City-owned properties, including potential arroyo delineation and creek restoration plan;
- Integration of a quarterly arborist report of the existing mature trees and vegetation on the Former Riverside Golf Course.
- An area-wide biological and natural resources analysis and mitigation program;
- An area-wide evaluation of potential flooding from the Santa Ana River or due to topographical conditions;
- A highly illustrative document that incorporates design criteria and consists of clear and objective development standards and design guidelines; and
- A complete CEQA analysis to support the resulting specific plan, including a Program Environmental Impact Report (PEIR) and supporting technical analysis.

Davenport Institute Grant:

The City of Riverside Planning Division was selected by the Davenport Institute for Public Engagement and Civic Leadership at Pepperdine University to receive a 2015 Public Engagement Grant in the amount of $12,000 to support the Northside Specific Plan community engagement process. As one of four California municipalities to receive the annual grant, the City will benefit from the guidance and expertise of the Davenport Institute in developing an effective “bottom-up” public process.

The successful consultant will be required to integrate into the Specific Plan an effective community engagement program consistent with the methodologies and approach specified by the Davenport Institute. The community engagement component of the Specific Plan that meets the intent of the grant will be funded directly through, and coordinated with, the Davenport Institute, under direction of the City of Riverside.

The Davenport Institute of Public Engagement and Civic Leadership is a multi-partisan and non-profit organization formed in 2005 to promote citizen participation in governance. Since 2008, the Davenport Institute has provided annual grants to improve local civic dialog and support ongoing, constructive relationships between government and citizens around various issues. More information about the Davenport Institute can be found at <http://publicpolicy.pepperdine.edu/davenport-institute/>. For information specifically related to the annual public engagement grant, please visit <http://publicpolicy.pepperdine.edu/davenport-institute/grants/annual/>.

Our Riverside Our Neighborhoods:

Concurrent with the Northside Specific Plan, the City of Riverside Neighborhoods Division is embarking upon a neighborhood engagement effort called “Our Riverside, Our Neighborhoods.” Our Riverside, Our Neighborhoods (ORON) is an Asset-Based Community Development (ABCD) effort to engage and empower residents to develop visions and strategies to create positive change in their neighborhoods. Unlike a typical top-down approach to planning, ABCD focuses on building community capacity to achieve neighborhood goals and reduce reliance on government intervention when addressing challenges.

The Northside Neighborhood will be a focus of the ORON effort beginning with a Neighborfest kickoff event on May 21, 2016. The event will include music, activities for kids, and interactive learning activities for all ages. The event is intended to tap into the community’s natural gifts, skills, talents, and networks to empower the neighborhood help make a difference in their communities.

The ORON effort presents both an opportunity and a challenge to mesh the efforts, schedules, and outcomes of ORON with the Specific Plan effort, without adding confusion to the parallel efforts. The successful consultant must outline how the two efforts will be integrated, while remaining sensitive to the community process. It is imperative that the selected consultant maintain an open dialog with community leaders and foster a culture of trust and understanding. More information about Our Riverside, Our Neighborhoods can be found at <http://www.riversideca.gov/ourneighborhoods/>.

Statement of Qualifications Topics

At minimum, the following topics should be addressed in the Statement of Qualification in the order presented:

Part I: Team Description

Describe the team that you have assembled to prepare the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan, and PEIR. Why is your team pursuing this project? What are your team’s strengths and why should the City consider your team for this project? Why were team members selected? What planning, urban design, revitalization, mobility, economic development, and public involvement philosophies generally resonate with your team members?

Please note that the City is less interested in generalized firm descriptions and more interested in the shared values of the team members.

Part II: Background, Experience, and Availability of Key Team Members and Client References

At minimum, describe the background, relevant experience, and availability of the following team members:

- Overall Project Director/Principal In-Charge
- Specific Plan Project Manager
- CEQA/PEIR Project Manager
- Community Involvement/Public Engagement Leader

The SOQ should clearly note if one person is designated to serve multiple roles on the team (such as the Urban Design Leader and Form-Based Code Leader). Please clearly indicate the proportion of time each person's time dedicated (%) to this project.

Three client references for the above individuals must be included. If one person is serving multiple roles on the team the references provided should be able to speak to all of the designated roles of that team member.

Part III: Concept Approach

Describe your team's proposed approach to prepare the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan, and PEIR. Please prepare your response with consideration of the following questions:

- A. People. How will your team work with people (including public officials, staff from the City of Riverside and the City of Colton, outside agencies, community organizations, property owners, business, owners, residents, and potential developers) to achieve a vision and plan that receives broad support from the community? How do you engage Spanish-speaking communities? How do you intend to integrate a distinctive community engagement component that satisfies the intent and approach of the Davenport Institute grant into the overall community engagement approach?
- B. Place. How will your team gain an understanding of the physical, economic, social, and environmental components of the project area and its surrounding neighborhoods, and how will you organize your community-based approach to respect the unique interests, attributes, challenges, and opportunities within the neighborhood? What approach should be employed to determine the planning area?
- C. Products. What products will your team prepare for this project, including innovative and value-added deliverables to effectively achieve community-supported outcomes? How will you prepare an inter-jurisdictional specific plan?
- D. Progress. How will your team's project management and approach result in a successful community-based process, plan adoption, and future implementation? How will you communicate progress to the public, public officials, and staff?

Part IV: Estimated Budget

Provide an Estimated Budget based on major tasks and key milestones. A consultant team may provide a range of costs, provided the delta between low and high costs is adequately explained. Tasks associated with the $12,000 Davenport Institute grant must be specifically identified.

City staff will use the Estimated Budget to inform decision makers and adequately plan the budget through 2018. Those consulting teams selected to move onto Phase 2 of the selection process will be asked for a more refined line-item budget.

Part V: Team Success

Describe three (3) to five (5) places, districts, or neighborhoods that have been transformed as a result of your team's work. What team members were involved in each project and what role did they play? What was the place like when the project started, and what is the place like now? Describe the process that was used to engage the community and generate community support for change? What strategies did your team recommend and what were the results of implementation? How has each place changed or improved physically? How has the economy been transformed? Has the social fabric and environment of each community been strengthened? Based on your work, is each community organized and working together to achieve common interests and visions? Provide at least one reference from each community that can verify your team's involvement in the process of change.

Part VI: Sample Products

Gaining an understanding of the products prepared by key team members (see Part II) is important to the Staff Evaluation Committee. Please provide internet links to no more than five (5) sample products that represent the work of key team members. A range of small to large products should be provided, such as community workshop fliers, on-line surveys, economic studies, technical studies, PowerPoint presentations, branding reports, architectural illustration, form-based codes, urban design concepts, specific plans, neighborhood revitalization strategy, historic preservation property surveys, videos documenting a process, and environmental impact reports.

Desired SOQ Qualities

Within the above parameters, each team is encouraged to submit as much detail as appropriate in order to demonstrate relevant experience, qualifications, skills, and approach for the Northside Neighborhood & Pellissier Ranch Inter-Jurisdictional Specific Plan, and PEIR. The organization, layout, readability, and overall quality of the SOQs will be viewed as an indicator of the team's written and graphic communication skills and overall quality of work.

SOQ Submittal

All prospective consultants submitting an SOQ package must include a narrative description of their concept approach and an estimated budget.
