City Council Memorandum

TO: HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL

DATE: OCTOBER 11, 2016

FROM: CITY MANAGER'S OFFICE

WARDS: ALL

SUBJECT: HOMELESSNESS IN RIVERSIDE

ISSUES:

Participate in a workshop with City staff, community members and subject matter experts regarding concerns related to homelessness in the City of Riverside. The discussion will include information on the current conditions contributing to homelessness, the programs and services available, and an introduction to new options for policies and programs with the goal to improve the quality of life for all residents and businesses by:

1. Maintaining clean and sanitary streets, parks, and public areas;
2. Mitigating impacts to businesses and residents;
3. Educating the community about effective ways to assist individuals and families experiencing homelessness through a connection to volunteer opportunities with effective service providers; and
4. Connecting residents, especially those most vulnerable and living without shelter and with a large number of barriers, to sustainable homeless services, employment and housing opportunities.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the City Council participate in the workshop and provide policy direction to staff return to City Council at a later date with a full analysis for City Council consideration.

INTRODUCTION:

Homelessness in Riverside, as in most American cities, is a complex problem that requires a determined, consistent, and multifaceted menu of solutions. The menu of solutions that staff will ultimately recommend requires public and private partnerships, enforcement and social services, as well as positive community participation (instead of well-intended participation, such as giving spare change to panhandlers).

Homelessness creates three primary problems for us as a community:

1. We have human beings who are, for a variety of reasons, without home or shelter, mental health services, and sufficient employment.
2. We experience the activities and actions of homeless individuals or groups that challenge community quality of life when they:
 - a. Occupy large swaths of park space to an extent that families cannot enjoy their neighborhood parks
 - b. Disturb and sometimes threaten public spaces and facilities such as our libraries
 - c. Defecate and urinate in the entryways of small local businesses
 - d. Commit crimes, including violent crimes
 - e. Establish encampments, including in the Santa Ana River-bottom, that are unsafe, unsanitary, and routinely cause fires
3. We realize a drain on scarce City resources that are directed to conditions, circumstances, and impacts pertaining to homelessness:
 - a. Homeless outreach efforts
 - b. Police enforcement responses
 - c. Public Works clean-ups
 - d. Fire department responses to fires
 - e. Code Enforcement responses
 - f. Additional parks maintenance

On the whole, with the exception of specific, small-scale or focused initiatives (e.g. the Mayors Challenge to end Veteran Homelessness), efforts thus far to end homelessness have not been successful. There are two broad reasons for this:

1. The City and community response has been more reactive than proactive. The City has focused on police enforcement while the community has focused on mass feedings and small donations of money or tents - none of which ever helps end anyone's homelessness.
2. There is a lack of services, programs and housing accommodations - and the resources to support each of these - that are necessary in order to help end homelessness.

The workshop today serves to inform us about the homeless situation in Riverside and its impact to the entire community, to better understand the problems in order to formulate the appropriate menu of solutions. There will be speakers from the community, city staff, non-profit service providers, County of Riverside staff, and regional experts on addressing homelessness.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY:

Several regulations were adopted in the Riverside Municipal Code (Attachment 1) to address community livability concerns, some of which are related to homelessness. City Council has also adopted several plans to assist individuals experiencing homelessness (Attachment 2).

The State Legislature, from time to time, considers bills that seek to prohibit local agencies from enforcing laws and ordinances to protect the public health, safety and welfare of our residents; there is no legislation pending currently. A summary of relevant State mandates is included in Attachment 3.

DISCUSSION:

Homelessness Context

Homelessness is a national problem. The Department of Housing and Urban Development estimates that 26% of the nation's homeless live in California. Cities such as San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego have the nation's largest homeless populations. Inland Southern California is also impacted significantly by homelessness.

Individuals experience homelessness for a variety of reasons that can be loosely defined by levels of barriers to self-sufficiency:

1. Intensive - Individuals that have multiple untreated disabling conditions, such as mental health disorders, and are self-medicating with legal or illegal substances. These individuals typically are also known as "chronically homeless".
2. Moderate - Individuals that have less severe disabling conditions and substance abuse.
3. Low - Individuals that may find themselves homeless due to job loss or experiencing difficulty navigating assistance programs and services. These individuals often need only short term assistance.

As the County seat, the geographical impacts of homelessness in the City of Riverside are influenced by the location of the County Administrative Offices, the State and Federal Courts, the Robert Presley Detention Center and access to main transportation lines.

The City has been working on homelessness for a significant time and has participated in several national and regional efforts to address homelessness (see Attachment 4 for a brief summary).

Community Livability Task Force (CLTF)

Adopted by City Council on April 1, 2014, CLTF was approved to address aggressive panhandling, vagrancy, unpermitted camping, vandalism, illegal vendors, and abandoned property. Approximately $3.5 million was allocated to the program to enforce community livability regulations. Unfortunately, the CLTF did not bring about visible and sustained change and the City is still being impacted by the aforementioned activities.

Services and Resources available today

The City funds, operates or collaborates with a diverse range of agencies and organizations to provide programs and services seeking to alleviate homelessness. These agencies are identified in the City's Homeless Services & Resources Guide (Attachment 5) and summarized in Attachment 6.

Additionally, City staff continues to cultivate partnerships with the business community, residents, faith-based organizations, non-profit service providers, educational institutions, the development community and landlords (Attachment 7) to address homelessness.

Further, the County of Riverside is dedicated to and contributed in several ways to resolving homelessness (see Attachment 8 for a summary of these programs).

Lastly, in 2011, the City formed the Shelter Resistant Task Force, with staff from Public Works, Code Enforcement, Police Department, Homeless Outreach Team, the County of Riverside Department of Mental Health, and the Probation Department (Attachment 9).

Recommended Programs and Services

Subject matter experts are expected to discuss a range of programs and services during the “Homelessness in Riverside” workshop that are options to more effectively address homelessness in the City, including:

1. Continuing Efforts to establish a full service campus
2. The Housing First Model of Service Delivery (Attachment 10)
3. A Community Response Team (Attachment 11)
4. Enforcement Models
5. Riverside at Work Program (Attachment 12)
6. Affordable Housing (Attachment 13)
7. Homeless Court Program (Attachment 14)
8. Overnight Shelters
9. Community Education for responsible, effective assistance
10. Park Programs

To help provide additional perspective and context on the above options, as well as a range of other topics and issues pertaining to homelessness, the following speakers are scheduled to participate in the workshop.
