Adolfo, Mario,

I want to pass along the following positive emails from a resident at the base of Mt. Rubidoux. Mr. Smith stopped me and Jacob yesterday morning as we were assessing the condition of the mountain. Mr. Smith requested some follow-up to the work that Parks completed near his property over a year ago. Jacob returned to the site later in the day, met with Mr. Smith and provided an assessment of the straw bales and sandbags that remain in place on the mountain, within the park, above his property. The two of them agreed that the straw bales were in good shape with evidence that the bales were doing their job by allowing silts to drop out while letting water flow through; no further adjustments were needed.

Andy.

Hi Andy and Jacob, I talked with you in the car by the park this morning. Thank you for stopping by this afternoon and taking a look at the hay roll. I know you're very busy with this next storm and I appreciate your time.

Hi Andrew, 1st I wanted to thank you for coming over to my home to look to see how we can stop the mud from washing down the hill. The house with a postcard view of the cross and of course July 4th. I wanted to see who I would tell about the sand bags being replaced with more bags. My wife and I have started taking some but we didn't want to take too many sharing with everyone. Now it's been some time and each day is closer to the start of rain of 2016. Is there any good news about above my property?

Again thank for your support and making Riverside a wonderful place to live.

Jeff Smith
