CULTURAL RESOURCES SURVEY

4291 11th Street, Riverside, California

This report is organized and number-formatted in accordance with the City of Riverside document: "Consultant Requirements for Cultural Resources survey, Studies, and Reports Information Sheet".

1. Evaluation for eligibility for any applicable designation program

C. Local designation via city of Riverside Municipal code Title 20, "Evergreen Quarter Historic District contributing property".

2. Evaluation of potential impacts to identified cultural resources

No events or persons of historic interest were identified with the remaining building proposed for demolition. The building itself is not of exemplary architectural significance, however there are two exterior architectural details of interest: (1) the inset wood windows and (2) the unique masonry chimney cap. Demolition would remove these resources.

3. Recommendation of mitigation measures where potential impacts have been identified

It is recommended that the windows, gable vent and the chimney be documented via photography prior to demolition.

4. For larger surveys a project database shall be submitted: (not applicable)

5. Completion of the appropriate State of California Historic Resources Inventory (DPR) forms. Photographs shall be in digital format.

See item 6L and attached forms in the appendix at the end of this report.

6A. Executive Summary:

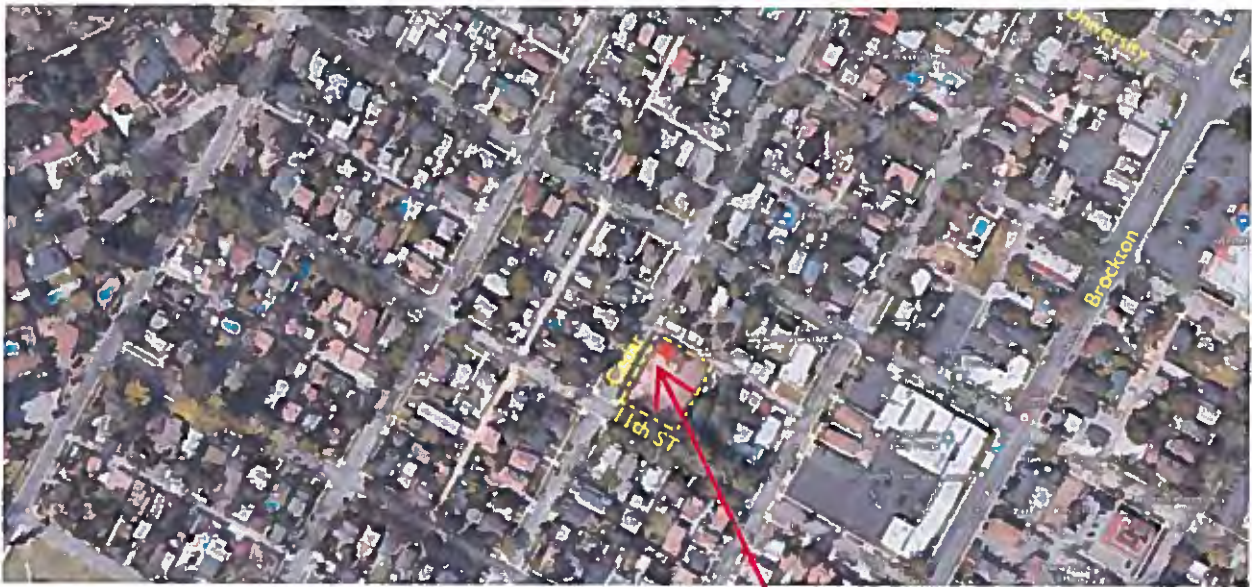

This report documents a cultural resources survey for a project site located in the City of Riverside, California. Onyx Architects has performed this investigation on behalf of the owner, the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel (ICFG). The purpose of this study was to determine if significant cultural resources more than 45 years old were located within the project area and to assess whether there are cultural resources that will be affected by demolition. This document has been written to fulfill the requirements of Title 20 of the city of Riverside Municipal Code.

The significant cultural resources were associated with the portion of the building that had already burned down and was demolished. The now-destroyed sanctuary hosted notable evangelist Aimee Semple MacPherson and was one of the earliest church buildings in the ICFG. There is no record of MacPherson utilizing the currently remaining portions of the building were no significant cultural resources identified for the remaining portion under this study.

The building is a contributing structure to the Evergreen Quarter Historic District, a locally designated historic district. Though the remaining portion of the building itself does not possess significant architectural merit, there are individual details (gable vent and a gable detailed chimney cap) that are of visual interest, and should be photographed.

Significant outreach/contact to all appropriate Native American groups was undertaken in March-April 2018, and responses indicated no interest in the property or in the demolition of the structure, including its semi-subterranean basement. Therefore Onyx Architects recommends to the City of Riverside and finding of "No Impact" regarding cultural resources. no further cultural resources investigation is recommended for the demolition project. However, if buried cultural materials are encountered during any excavation, subterranean demolition, or earth moving operations associated with the project, all work in that area should be halted or diverted until a qualified archaeologist can evaluate the nature and significance of the finds.

6F. Research and field methodology

Research included:

1. Review of all building records at the city building department
2. Review of all available records from the church historian at the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel (ICFG).
3. Review of newspaper records, including local newspaper and ICFG newspapers/ newsletters.
4. Review of available records from the City of Riverside Historical Museum
5. Onsite inspection of existing structures
6. Consultation with the Native American Heritage Commission for a Sacred Lands File (SLF) search, and follow-up contact with appropriate Native American Groups

6G. Architectural Description

The remaining structure(s) consist of:

- the raised wood subfloor of the previous sanctuary/assembly area
- the raised wood subfloor and partial roof over the previous stage / "choir loft" area
- a single-story, wood framed with plaster, "sunday school" and office area over semi-subterranean multipurpose / meeting rooms. This portion of the structure has a gable roof with asphalt shingles and a utility vent that appears as a chimney.
- A small utility patio at "loading dock" height at the east end of the building
- a paved parking lot and miscellaneous concrete walkways and steps that previously served as exit access.

Built in the 1920s, the overall structure was utilitarian in nature with a pastiche of stylistic components. The currently remaining portion of the structure is more cohesive, unified by its plaster finish, multi-paned windows with arched tops, and detailed with "mission" style accents at the gable vent and chimney top.

6H. Definition of area history

The Evergreen Quarter was designated a local historic district in 2004. It is named after the Evergreen Memorial Park and Mausoleum, 2 blocks to the south of the subject site. The Jarvis House (4492 Twelfth St.) and the Devine House (4475 Twelfth St.) are located approximately 2 blocks southeast of the site. See attached District Record (following this page) for additional information.

6I. Statement of Significance (context statement)

The previously destroyed sanctuary portion of the structure provided the significance. Culturally it was one of the earliest church assembly buildings in the ICFG denomination, and hosted noted evangelist Aimee Semple MacPherson. Architecturally, it served as a visual "wayfinding" point and street corner definition due to its relatively large proportion, broad entry doors, and close proximity to the street property lines, as compared to other neighboring residential structures. The construction of a large church within a residential neighborhood is also a reflection of the very local, neighborhood scale of religious participation in 1920s Riverside. The parking lot was relatively small for the number of seats in the sanctuary, anticipating walking or public transportation by congregants. It is important to note that due to destruction by fire, none of these significant elements currently remain.

the property is a contributor to the historic district, and the remaining building has 3 details of interest:

- Inset wood windows with multiple panes and an arch top
- A roof gable with a decorative plaster vent
- A chimney cap with gabled S-tile and a plaster arch relief.

6J. Recommendation

The current property owner is proposing demolition of the structure to abate the public safety and nuisance of an unoccupied and damaged building. with no historical significance and only a few remaining exterior details of architectural merit, it is recommended that the remaining structures be demolished.

6K. Resume of authors

Steve Kuchenski is a registered architect #C-21218 in the State of California. Since 1994, he has worked on preservation and adaptive reuse of numerous historic structures including, but not limited to:

- The Pasadena Labor Temple
- Olvera Street, El Pueblo De Los Angeles Historic Monument
- Pasadena Main Library - stone facade restoration
- Allavie Residence, Riverside

Steve Kuchenski has also provided historic consultation services to the city of San Dimas and City of San Gabriel.

4. Foursquare Crusader 12/2/1926

6N. Discussion of Potential Impacts

Given that all the elements of historic and cultural significance of the original structure were already destroyed by fire, and that the remaining structure is a nuisance requiring abatement, there is no negative potential impact of the proposed demolition.

6O. Proposed mitigation measures it is recommended that the details identified in 6I above be photographed as a record prior to building demolition.

6P. Current setting

The remaining building is abandoned and unused, as it is unsafe in its post-fire condition.

6Q. Evaluation of significance in accordance with the criteria listed in (6I) above

As mentioned in 6I there are no remaining elements of cultural or historic significance.

It was for a time the largest church in the foursquare gospel denomination, and evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson preached in the sanctuary on 7/28/1931. there is no indication that McPherson visited or spoke in the remaining Sunday School Annex. the Sanctuary was destroyed by fire in 2015, and only the wood subfloor system remains.

The Sunday School Annex to the north was not substantially damaged by the fire. It is not of cultural significance in itself, but it is a contributing structure in the Evergreen Quarter Historic District. The building has exterior details of interest, specifically the gable vent, the faux chimney cap with S tile, the inset arched wood windows.

*P3a. Description: (Describe resource and its major elements. Include design, materials, condition, alterations, size, setting, and boundaries)

A church sanctuary ("tabernacle") completed in 1926, and a nursery / Sunday School annex completed in 1930 and remodeled in 1950. The sanctuary was destroyed in a fire in 2015, and was demolished down to the subfloor. As of 1-2-2018, only the Sunday School Annex structure is relatively intact.

The buildings are located on the northeast corner of 11th and Cedar Street. A historic photograph indicates the single story tabernacle had a facade with a pastiche of styles, including mission detailing at the roof and a moderne primary entrance and low monumental steps facing 11th St. Entrance doors were inset beneath a shallow entry arch with a slight gothic peak. The tabernacle had a raised wood subfloor, wood-framed exterior walls with plaster finish, and arched trusses supported on the east and west exterior walls and on intermediate interior columns. A platform was constructed at the north end of the tabernacle, atop the subfloor. This was reportedly utilized by a choir. The sanctuary had cultural significance in that it was purchased by the Echo Park Evangelistic Association and noted evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson preached there.

The Sunday school annex was built on the northern portion of the site, and abuts the alley. The annex has a semi-subterranean basement with masonry walls, and an upper story with windows facing Cedar Street and the alley to the north. The masonry walls have inset windows, and the masonry chimney has a detailed cap.

There is no historic record that indicates the Sunday School annex was visited or utilized by Aimee Semple McPherson.

THRONG WELCOMES NOTED EVANGELIST

Hours before the time set for the opening of the first service conducted in Riverside by Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of the Angeles Temple, Los Angeles, the tent at Fifth and Main streets was filled to overflowing last evening. People crowded the improvised tabernacle and many stood during the entire service.

The opening of the Big Four Square revival was signal for one of the largest meetings which have been held for some time, and Sister McPherson was enthusiastically received. She will speak here again tonight.

Judge R. J. Welch introduced received. She will speak here again tonight.

Judge R. J. Welch introduced the evangelist to the throng, and she preached a stirring sermon, taking as her subject the old time religion. At 7:30 o'clock tonight Sister McPherson will tell her life's story. The musical program for this evening promises to be particularly interesting, featuring Dr. Keith M. Walker, baritone and Edith Wilson Clarke, soprano. Beulah West Parker will act as accompanist.

Persons desiring to hear the evangelist are urged to come early to the tent.

This is a Studebaker year. 2-2311

MRS. AIMEE SEMPLE M'PHERSON RESTS AT MISSION INN

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, noted evangelist, is a distinguished visitor in Riverside today, resting at the Glenwood Mission Inn during her engagements at Redlands tonight and at San Bernardino tomorrow night.

Mrs. McPherson will speak in the public auditorium tonight in Redlands. Following this meeting the evangelistic program will be shifted to San Bernardino, where Mrs. McPherson will speak tomorrow night.

She is accompanied by her daughter and Miss C. Waldron, her stenographer.

"I have taken this chance to get a little rest from my activities," she said. "I know of no more delightful place for rest and quiet than your Glenwood Mission Inn. But unfortunately my stay must be brief."

An Insight Into Angeles Temple Week-End—Four Service Convention

Greatest Spiritual Enthusiasm Manifest at Glowing Convention

Because of the hundreds of delegates and visitors from distant points attending Angeles Temple and anxious to take back to their homes a true conception of the revival and message which has for four years swept round the world from Angeles Temple, this convention was held.

Beginning Saturday evening with a service of Divine Healing and extending through three great services of Sunday, closing at

Los Angeles Attorney Speaks

Extracts from Correspondence

It is very difficult at times to understand the workings of the human mind. It occurs to me there is every reason in the world to doubt the possibility of making the purported confession you, and no reason, what to doubt you except the senseless, unreasonable and groundless suspicion in the minds of a mendacious, notoriety seeking and notoriety loving public.

I have been in the law business for some eighteen or twenty years and during that period of time was on the bench for about ten years in another state, and in all my experiences have never seen or heard of a person being treated with such utter disregard as you have been.

I have never seen you in life that I know of and have never heard you speak except over the radio, but I have been intending to write those lines for some time simply to satisfy myself and to say to you that I have much confidence in you and think that you have little to fear from the approaching prosecution.

I have been in Los Angeles about three years, and I believe that you are doing more good for the public at large than all of the other demagogical charlatans put together, and with those few remarks I say, "more power to you," and with best wishes for your complete vindication.

Miraculous Escape From Death

"He shall give His angels charge over thee."

While driving his Jewett sedan on the San Fernando Road, Brother E. L. Schumacher was struck at San Fernando Road at Western Avenue in Glendale, last Thursday by a large truck.

The truck was said to be going at a speed of thirty-five miles an hour and struck Mr. Schumacher with full force, completely demolishing it. Onlookers say they never witnessed anything so marvelous as the escape of Brother Schumacher and the other occupant. Although the car was a complete wreck, not the slightest injury was sustained by Brother Schumacher. Mr. Schumacher is one of the most faithful students at Angeles Temple, who seldom misses a service.

Mr. Schumacher and his family were converted here and believe in the power of prayer and are thanking God for this wonderful deliverance from death.

There are 132 women in the state legislatures in this country. Congress, with 17, has the largest number.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

COMMANDER OF THE FLEET
SAN PEDRO,
CALIFORNIA

THE DOORS OF ANGELUS TEMPLE AND THE HEARTS OF ITS PEOPLE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN OPEN TO THE BOYS WHO SAIL THE SEAS IN DEFENSE OF OUR COUNTRY, BUT ANGELUS TEMPLE DESIRES TO PREPARE A SPECIAL RECEPTION FOR THEM ON SUNDAY NIGHT, WHEN SISTER MCPHERSON WILL SPEAK ON THE SUBJECT, "SHIP AHOY," A SERVICE ESPECIALLY ARRANGED WITH SONGS AND A SERMON OF THE SEA.

SECTIONS WILL BE RESERVED FOR ALL SAILORS, OFFICERS AND THEIR WIVES; AND MRS. MCPHERSON WILL BE HAPPY TO MEET PERSONALLY EVERY NAVY MAN ATTENDING.

IF YOU WILL ADVISE US HOW MANY ARE COMING WE SHALL BE HAPPY TO PROVIDE CARS TO BRING THEM.

SINCERELY,

ANGELUS TEMPLE
AIMEE SEMPLE MCPHERSON

An immediate response from the Commander in the above telegram advised us that the invitation had been sent to each ship in harbor and hundreds had expressed themselves as happy to attend this service in their honor.

Thus it was that our story really began November 14, when the main floor of Angeles Temple was a sea of blue uniforms, and the altar call saw scores of sailor boys and officers at the altar.

James P. Delk, Sailor Boy, whose simple message delivered at the request of a dying shipmate brought hundreds to the altar.

Mrs. McPherson at Riverside

Monday night, December 6th, Sister McPherson will speak to the Four-square Church at Riverside. Evangelist and Mrs. Jarves, pastors in charge, were formerly in our branch at Long Beach. Going there when the work was new they labored faithfully until now the Long Beach branch is one of the largest and best organized in California.

However, having once felt the evangelistic call, they could not stay in one place very long. The field was calling and the opportunity came when an Evangelistic Association of Riverside proposed to turn over to the Echo Park Evangelistic Association their building and work in Riverside. Mr. and Mrs. Jarves immediately took charge.

The results of their few months' work there was evidenced by the presence of some seventy-five of their members in Angeles Temple last Tuesday evening when all of the branches were home.

The tabernacle at Riverside is the largest building among all of our branches, having a seating capacity of one thousand. On Sunday it is filled to capacity not only with people who have come to hear the message, but with the glory of the Lord. Many are being converted, the sick healed and believers filled with the Holy Spirit.

Wherever the Four-square Gospel has gone, scores of children have been brought to the doors pleading for a Sunday School and for some work of their very own. Riverside branch is no exception. With several large Sunday School rooms they are able to care for the hundreds of children who attend each Sunday morning.

It is truly gratifying to see our branches growing under the leadership of such consecrated, wholehearted workers. We thank God for them and for the loyal members who are standing foursquare for God and for their church. May God bless them.

Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist who has learned to yield the control of the meeting to the Holy Spirit.

Never Too Old To Be Happy

Franklin P. Althorn and Mary A. Sevier, aged 74 and 72 respectively have just consummated by marriage a romance which began many years ago in their childhood. They were chosen as school and marriage license, happy "I wills" and all was well.

Mr. Althorn will reside with his bride in Los Angeles through the winter, she returning with him to his Oklahoma residence in the summer.

One and all, and pour out of His Spirit in their midst that the revival may overflow the walls of the tabernacle until it shall become a real revival center itself.

"Take the stairway to success. The elevator isn't running."

A TYPICAL SUNDAY NIGHT SERVICE AT ANGELUS TEMPLE

SAILOR IN UNITED STATES NAVY GIVES TOUCHING MESSAGE

Sister McPherson has presented many unique illustrated sermons Sunday evenings, but this was to have been an unillustrated sermon.

No one sitting in Angeles Temple last Sunday night could doubt that it was the hand of God which guided the service.

Thirty-two men could look upon Angeles Temple altar, filled to overflowing up the steps, the aisles and most salons, and doubt that the little Party of Faith big church has been answered of God, has been called to the work she is doing, is walking in the center of the life, and doing that which is entirely pleasing in His sight.

The musical hour opened with the singing of stirring Gospel choruses and revival hymns. Yet, the Spirit of God seemed to be a little more manifest. His presence, a little sweeter and clearer than ordinary, even in Angeles Temple, where His Spirit ever dwells. The singing was a little more hearty, handclaps a little warmer, "God bless you" more fervent.

But then it was Angeles Temple, where handclaps are always firm and where every one looks in step the pulpit of the King and the musical hour went on, with no comment, until a note came to the platform. It said that there was a sailor boy, who had been promised to deliver to Sister McPherson and the Angeles Temple congregation.

SANTA PAULA HEARS FOUR-SQUARE GOSPEL LEADER

Speaking to a throng estimated at forty-five hundred on Monday evening in Santa Paula, Aimee Semple McPherson, president of the Four-square Gospel evangelistic movement. Marked interest was displayed throughout the discourse. Hundreds of people arrived from all points of the compass throughout the afternoon early evening to be present. The evangelist with her party had difficulty in reaching the platform, but once there were given a hearty welcome.

The Students' Silver Band, Melody Masters, soloists and speakers were in the group that journeyed from Los Angeles.

Santa Paula was visited by one of the students' test revival campaigns a few months ago. At the conclusion of the campaign, Mrs. McPherson was waited upon by delegations of Santa Paula business men who stated that it was the desire of many to have the work continue as a permanent branch of the Angeles Temple.

Every ready to answer calls, arrangements were made. Two of the company who had conducted the campaign were selected as pastors. They (Continued on Page 4)

ECHO PARK COMMUNITY MASS MEETING

A large and enthusiastic gathering assembled, voicing with no uncertain sound their faith in Aimee Semple McPherson and the good work accomplished through her in this community. Mr. C. E. Roberts presided. His remarks in opening are in part as follows:

"The purpose and object of this meeting is to express our appreciation and confidence in Mrs. McPherson and Mother Kennedy and endorse the wonderful work they are doing.

It has been their life's work to carry the plan of Salvation in trust of thousands of souls and make them happy and contented. There can only be one result from their work, and that is the elevation and betterment of the human race.

"It would almost be impossible for anyone to grasp the magnitude of the stupendous work that they are doing. Their work today covers a very large territory and is destined through the Missionary Training School to cover the entire world. At the present time, I understand, there are 700 students in training, and a great many of them eventually will be preaching the Four-square Gospel in all parts of the world.

"It is true that Spurgeon of London, England, Moody, Denny, Dilly Sunday and a great many other evangelists have done a great work—but none of them can compare with the work done by Mrs. McPherson.

"In my judgment it would be a great calamity to have this great work interfered with.

I really cannot conceive of anyone who has given this matter the careful and serious consideration to which it is entitled, who would dare to write such a tremendous blow at Christianity.

"With the present trend of Science, it behooves the clergy to stand united, with their backs to the wall, fighting in defense of the Church, in place of tearing them down. They cannot destroy the Church of the Four-square Gospel without undermining the very foundation of their own church.

"Most McPherson is the greatest and most successful evangelist the world has ever produced, and the eyes of the world are centered upon her, and unless she receives full vindication it will shatter the faith of millions and be the greatest blow to Christianity that has happened in the history of the world."

James F. Delk, Saller Key, whose simple message delivered at the request of a dying shipmate brought hundreds to the altar.

"We have not as yet given a public recital or hearing because radio reception has not been good. But now we feel that we can announce a radio concert with a fair degree of success assured. Thursday night, Thanksgiving, we plan a concert. If you would care to say a word to the people of Douglas at that time, we would appreciate it.

A Leaf or Two from the Branches

Riverside Dedicates Sunday School Building

"Faith honors God—
God honors faith."

THREE AND A HALF YEARS ago, in a small church building in Riverside, there gathered a group of consecrated Christians for prayer. The purpose of their prayer was that the great God whom they loved and served might grant the desire of their hearts—namely, a permanent place in which to worship Him.

Today there stands at the corner of Eleventh and Cedar, in the city of Riverside, in the heart of California's orange belt, a monument of faith, a testimony to the certainty of the Word of God that "all things are possible to him that believeth."

The dedicatory service of the beautiful new Sunday School annex was an occasion of great rejoicing on October 27, when Four-square ministers and workers from the entire part of Southern California met and reviewed the work of the two faithful pastors, Rev. D. V. and Eva H. Alderman, and beheld the fruit of their labors.

Commencing at 10:30, the entire day was spent in service and song, in prayer and praise, in testimony and blessing. Faith-building messages from the Word were brought by visiting pastors. Beautiful numbers in song contributed to the enjoyment of the day.

At ten o'clock in the evening the dedication took place in a most impressive manner. Floodlights were employed to brilliantly illumine the edifice, and as the people assembled under the canopy of the stars the very presence of the Lord hovered over in a peaceful way. At the climax of the service the chairman of the Board opened one of the swinging doors, typifying the entrance of God to abide forever in the building. The other door was then opened by the superintendent of the Sunday School, typifying the entrance of the children and young people to learn the Word of God.

Rev. D. V. Alderman, the pastor, gave a short history of the building, and told how the Lord had honored their faith and prayers. When the church was taken over by the Four-square members a few years ago, there was a seemingly impossible indebtedness. However, everyone rallied loyally, the Lord prospered their efforts; and today there remains a comparatively small amount due on the entire building. The Sunday School started contributing to the Building Fund two years ago, and this sum helped materially. Chairs and furnishings were purchased with this money, given by the children.

D. V. ALDERMAN

EVA ALDERMAN

It is a lovely building, beautifully finished in every detail, a delight to the eye, giving an environment best suited to the winning and upbuilding of souls in the knowledge and adoration of the Lord. There are eighteen rooms, including two auditoriums, and also assembly rooms for the various departments. The equipment for the business of teaching the Bible in this church is the best which God-inspired brain and heart could plan.

A great deal of credit is due Brother and Sister Alderman for their faithful and tireless efforts in the erection of this beautiful edifice. We rejoice with them in this work which they are doing in Riverside, which comes as an outstanding feature in their years of loyal, earnest, consecrated work as Four-square pastors. We look forward to future years which we believe will bring a greater growth and a broader work to these two splendid co-workers with the Master.

Southern Divisional Conference

PASTORS AND EVANGELISTS from the state of Texas met November 2 at Dallas to dedicate the beautiful new Four-square Tabernacle which has just been completed.

Rev. A. C. Wegner, Divisional Officer of the states of Oklahoma and Texas, has been pastor of the church for the past two years, and in the face of difficulties has worked diligently to make the building one of which Four-squaredom would be proud.

The tabernacle seats approximately four hundred people, and is especially arranged for the work of the church, having Sunday School and young people's rooms. A beautiful baptistry was donated by the ladies of the church. Also many lovely paintings depicting various Bible stories have been furnished, and these greatly enhance the attractiveness of the tabernacle.

Among those present at the dedication were: Rev. C. W. Rosendahl, General Supervisor; Sister Marion Barnhart of End, Oklahoma; Mrs. Elizabeth Sull; Sisters Nydia Jensen and Hilda Johnson of Fort Worth; Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Hayes of Yukon, and Mary Lucille Clay, Corsicana.

We rejoice with Brother Wegner in the completion of this new tabernacle, and join with him in the prayer that hundreds may enter its portals to hear the message of the Four-square Gospel.

HISTORY: A Riverside church receives historic photos that link it to famous 1930s evangelist "Sister Aimee."

EVANSVILLE—The Mission Community Foursquare Church at the corner of 11th and Cedar streets is a nondescript building that blends into its neighborhood of Craftsman-style homes.

Things were different some 80 years ago, when evangelist
Aimee Semple McPherson's
new church first came to town.

Now, Moses would like to include the seven photos — which include shots of parishioners posed outside the church, a
shot of McPherson at her Ange-lus Temple in Los Angeles — in a museum exhibit. The images do more than point to an interesting time in the city's history, Moses said. They also chronicle the growth of the city's white middle class. These were Sister Aimee's followers, he said.

A window to the church's beginnings opened recently when historic photographs were found among old family belongings. The pictures link a neighborhood's quiet present to its dramatic past.

The photos were passed to restoration carpenter and pa-rishoner Glen Baker, who just happens to be doing restoration work on the home of Riverside
Municipal Museum Director, Vincent Moses. Baker showed the photos to Moses, and both agreed they were treasures of Riverside's history.

sian middle class in the early '20s that were looking for a way to become grounded in this exotic and new place," Moses said.

AN INTERESTING FIND

The photos came to Baker from former parishioner Christy Hering, who had received them from a cousin by marriage, Laura Amick. The pictures had belonged Amick's mother. Amick and her family had attended the Riverside church.

Hering said she gave the photos to Baker because she knew he would appreciate their historical value.

Both women said they were surprised to hear that the pictures had generated so much interest. They also said they were happy to hear the photos did not end up just sitting in a box somewhere.

The pictures connect Riverside to McPherson, who gained celebrity status in the 1920s with her radio shows. She wowed followers with dramatic sermons that included faith healings.

Although McPherson does not appear to be in any of the photos taken at the Riverside church, those pictures do show women dressed in the white dress, cape and large cross pendant McPherson favored.

One photo shows a man and woman — presumably the pastor and his wife — standing near a sign designating the Riverside church as a branch of the Angelus Temple. The sign also identifies the church's pastor as C.E. Jaynes. Church publications refer to Jaynes and his wife being in charge of the church in the mid-1920s.

"I think they got into the right place," Baker said of the photos that date back to the 1920s. Although there are no dates on the photos, they do show pastors who are referred to in church articles as having been at the church in the mid-1920s.

"All this stuff is like a conduit to the past. I think it's important to preserve as much as possible," Baker said.

"What I'm just excited about is this just fills in a big gap in Riverside history," Moses said.

The photographs help tell the story of the years after Almee McPherson first came to Riverside. Church records show that the Foursquare movement started here with a 1924 tent revival, which McPherson opened. No pictures of the tent were found, however.

A church article describes such an event, with a tent set up at the intersection of Fifth and Main streets — now the location of the Riverside Convention Center.

Inspired listeners of McPherson's radio show probably invited her to Riverside, said Janet Simonsen, heritage department manager for the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel.

The church found its home on 11th Street in the early 1920s, Mission Community Pastor Jeff Miller said. Church magazines report Sister Almee's visits to the location. A December 1928 article describes crowds waiting in the rain for McPherson to arrive.

A standing-room-only crowd gathered for the sermon, and McPherson "perched herself precariously" on the altar rail so that everyone could see her, the report said.

Robert F. Molton, who grew up in the 11th Street house where Baker now lives, remembers going to listen at the window when McPherson came to town. Although Molton was an Episcopalian, he was drawn by Sister Almee's celebrity.

"It was fun to listen to her," recalled the 84-year-old Molton, who now lives in Laguna Beach.

Molton said he doesn't remember too much of her sermon, but he does remember what she said when the collection plate was passed: "I don't want to hear the noise of silver. I want to hear the rustle of dollar bills."

Miller recalls his father had different memories of Almee, whom he saw at her large temple in Los Angeles.

"Ambulances would come by Angelus Temple on the way to hospital. They would get healed," Miller said.

BUILDING A FUTURE

Overflow crowds at the church now are seen only in photographs like those now at the museum. Instead of hundreds filling the pews, the church now has a regular congregation of about 65 people, Miller said.

Miller dreams of a day when hundreds of worshippers again fill his little church. Perhaps the congregation will become so big that it will need a larger church, he said.

But the past will not be forgotten.

"It's important for us to know what our history is, what our foundation is, what our values are. ... Almee Semple McPherson's ministry was a healing ministry, was a serving ministry. That's what we want to be about."
