Introduction

On March 13, 2020, the City of Riverside declared a local emergency to increase its efforts to protect the public from COVID-19. The City of Riverside's proclamation of local emergency notes that "there exists conditions of a disaster or of extreme peril to the safety of persons or property within the territorial limits of the City of Riverside that are beyond the control of the services, personnel, equipment and facilities of the City for the reason of COVID-19." The City Council ratified that declaration on March 17, 2020. As the COVID-19 pandemic evolved, City Council, Riverside County Department of Public Health, and the State of California have issued several orders to prevent and control the spread of COVID-19.

In addressing the COVID-19 pandemic, three stages or phases of the pandemic have been identified and provide a framework that focuses city efforts in response to a continuously changing situation. These three phases largely correspond to the State of California's Resilience Roadmap (<https://covid19.ca.gov/roadmap/>), an ever-evolving set of regulations and guidelines for transitioning from the immediate pandemic response effort to a controlled and incremental approach to allowing businesses to reopen.

To guide the City and its constituents through each of the three phases, this Road to Recovery Framework has been developed as a living document that is intended to be flexible and fluid in an evolving public health crisis. This Framework identifies strategic priorities under each phase to guide policies and actions to facilitate restoration of economic activities in a manner that enables business to operate safely and viability while maintaining public health objectives and keeping COVID-19 transmissions very low. The Framework also considers strategies to mitigate impacts to community members and suggests other strategies to ensure the recovery process is safe, equitable, and inclusive.

Objective

Build a more sustainable and resilient Riverside to respond to and recover from impacts related to a health crisis.

Framework Intent

This Recovery Framework is intended to:

1. Provide a sustainable and resilient post-crisis recovery framework for Riverside's residents, businesses, workforce, and other agencies that remains fluid to changing response activities and regulatory guidelines.
2. Identify ways to combat the pandemic in a meaningful way, and identify responses and recovery strategies that are appropriate to the risks and can be sustained over necessary periods of time.
3. Employ the tools necessary to keep virus transmissions as low as possible while restarting the economy.
4. Identify measures of effective health protection with gradual relaxation of restrictions in the social and economic environment.

5. Establish a strategy to guide the nimble development of implementable actions through a phased approach during the economic recovery.

Three-Phases to Recovery

The City of Riverside will take a phased approach to recovery, guided by data and science and consistent with State and County regulations and guidelines. These phases will be determined by a number of public health factors related to the containment and treatment of the virus or contagion. The phases include the Response Phase, Recovery Phase, and Thrive Phase.

The Response Phase is the period coinciding and immediately following the identification of a pandemic or issuance of a stay-at-home order or a local, state, or national declaration of a state of emergency. Non-essential businesses and social gatherings are prohibited and social distancing and PPE implementation are required for essential operations. This phase is consistent with the State of California's Stage 1.

The Recovery Phase is the transitional period following the initial Response Phase when the state and county signal the relaxation of restrictions on non-essential businesses and limited social activities. This phase is consistent with the State's Stages 2 and 3.

The Thrive Phase is characterized by the complete elimination of all restrictions and the full allowance of all sectors of business, including large assemblies, schools, and sporting events. This phase coincides with the State's Stage 4.

Appendix A: Riverside COVID19 Recovery Phase - Reopening Business Guidance

Introduction

In an effort to allow businesses to reopen while maintaining responsible health and safety measures, the state of California's Resilience Roadmap includes guidelines for businesses to reduce the risks to employees and the public associated with COVID-19. The City of Riverside will follow the State's and County's direction for reopening businesses, but the City Council may use its best judgment based on data and local conditions to include additional measures in order to protect our community.

What Businesses Must Do

As California moves through the stages of recovery, every business should have a clear and flexible plan for reopening that defines specific workplace practices, physical and behavioral modifications, and employee training to address the COVID-19 threat. As indicated in the State's Resilience Roadmap, before reopening all businesses must complete the following:

1. Perform a detailed risk assessment and implement a site-specific protection plan.
2. Train employees on how to limit the spread of COVID-19, including how to screen themselves for symptoms and stay home if they have them.
3. Implement individual control measures and screenings.
4. Implement disinfecting protocols, including hand washing routines and cleaning and disinfection regimens.
5. Implement physical distancing guidelines which may include general or industry specific personal protective equipment (PPE).

A template plan has been developed to assist business owners and key personnel in their development and implementation of a COVID19 Risk Assessment & Protection Plan, which can be found here (link at City's business page).

List of Sectors with Published Guidance

Recognizing that every industry has unique risk factors and operational needs to maintain productivity while protecting both employees and customers, the Resilience Roadmap (covid19.ca.gov/roadmap/) provides customized industry sector guidance along with checklists that businesses can post in the workplace to reassure customers and employees that risks have been reduced and they are open for business. This list will continue to grow as California expands through each of the stages of the COVID19 recovery process. The City recommends businesses review these guidelines frequently for important updates and best practices. Current industry specific guides available include:

Appendix B: Community Recovery Actions

The steps presented in this guide may facilitate the community recovery process efforts in allowing for flexibility and opportunity to develop programs, plans, and initiatives that reflect the goals of the Riverside Road to Recovery framework.

Responding to the community need at the onset and throughout the recovery process by the following:

1. Establish a sense of safety and trust
2. Maintain calm
 - a. Public messaging
 - b. Supportive resources
3. Promote both self-care and community care
4. Foster community connectedness
 - a. Social support
 - b. How do people meet and gather - use of technology to keep people connected
5. Provide a sense of realistic optimism
 - a. Hope woven into messaging and story sharing
6. Information and resources are updated regularly
 - a. Resources are available at www.riversideca.gov

Facilitating Recovery at the Community Level

Assessment: Assessment of resources to facilitate recovery by identifying the needs of the community resulting from the impacts of the pandemic. Community needs can be met, through evaluating their needs and identifying local resources available.

- Provide factual and trusted information and resources
- Continuous determination of needs and resources
- Identify assets through
 - Partnership with community groups and stakeholders, i.e. neighborhood groups, education, social services, health organizations, arts & culture groups, transportation
- Identify assets available through city departments, i.e.
 - Parks, Recreation and Community Services: recreation programs and classes, community and senior centers, community events
 - Library and Museum: collections and library materials, literacy and education resources, information services and cultural programs
 - Neighborhood Engagement Division: Small Sparks, movie night equipment, various community partnerships
 - Arts & Cultural Division: art and cultural resources, programs, and projects; special events; entertainment and filming; various community partnerships
 - Riverside Public Utilities: residential customer resources and educational programs

Partnerships: Identify community partners to be involved and collaborate in the recovery efforts. Bringing these partnerships together will inspire a thoughtful process in rebuilding the community.

- Elected officials and local leaders
- Identify community leaders at all levels, i.e. neighborhood leaders, nonprofit organizations, creative community, and education leaders.

- Public safety, i.e. Police and Fire
- Organization of committees and subgroups as needed and develop structure
- Identifying opportunities to link and foster connections with the committees and subgroups.

Promote and Facilitate Community Vitality

Empower the community by developing opportunities and providing resources that encourage continuity and stability within the community and to adjust to change with success.

- Employment opportunity and training of new skills and knowledge
- Accessible and affordable temporary and permanent housing
- Access to safe and nutritious food
- Community health and safety resources
- Education and cultural resources
- Diversify resources to advocate for equitable forms of resource distributions
- Identify goals and create action plans for various stages of recovery
 - Develop outline, set goals, obtain feedback, implement plan, and monitor outcome to facilitate modifications as needed

Social Connection: Fostering local social networks of support within the community may enhance the sense of community and increase resiliency and capacity resulting in improved community health, engagement, and enrichment.

- Identify activities, programs, and resources that encourage community resiliency
- Foster reintegration of social engagement with others in a manner that is safe and reduces risks
- Strengthen social capital and sense of community

Equitable Practices and Resources: It is vital to recognize and honor that many communities make up the whole of Riverside as a community. These communities may have shared culture, purpose, and experiences that enrich our region and may have specific needs.

- Address and respond to all groups in the community and consider for example:
 - Geographic communities
 - Age
 - Ethnicity
 - Language
- Reduce barriers and increase access
- Recognize and respect differing cultural beliefs and practices
- Find community gatekeepers and request their involvement
