BACKGROUND

1. Administrative Code Enforcement program in RMC 1.17 authorizes issuance of fines of $100-$100,000 for violations of municipal code.
2. Fines typically reach the highest level after prolonged period of non-compliance and a series of notices/citations/hearings/due process.
3. Responsible parties and prospective buyers face challenges paying high fine amounts.
4. The City developed a tool to negotiate fine amounts during the 2007/2008 foreclosure crisis when many vacant bank owned properties accumulated high fines.
5. Rehabilitation Agreements and Owner Occupancy Covenants were used in exchange for fine reductions.

BACKGROUND

6. Rehabilitation Agreements were a legal contract wherein the responsible party agreed to resolve the code violations by a prescribed date in exchange for a fine reduction.
7. Owner Occupancy Covenants require the property owner to occupy the subject property as well as make repairs for an agreed upon amount of time in exchange for a fine reduction.
8. Staff was authorized to negotiate up to 50% of the original fine amount with a Rehabilitation Agreement and even greater percentages with an Owner Occupancy Covenant based on the amount of time the property remained owner occupied.
9. Reductions greater than 50% required City Council approval.
10. The agreements have been an informal practice of the City Attorney's Office and approximately 242 agreements have been executed since 2008.

DISCUSSION

Two options for consideration:

1. Cease utilizing Rehabilitation Agreements and negotiating Code Enforcement fines.

- a) Staff will seek full payment of all imposed fines with no means to negotiate or reduce the amount due.
- b) Failure to pay will result in collections, an unsecured property lien or cloud on title, reporting to the State Franchise Tax Board and other traditional debt collection methods.

DISCUSSION

2. Continue Rehabilitation Agreements and formalize a policy.

- a) Each request to negotiate would need to meet certain criteria:
- i. No previous rehabilitation agreements with the City.
 - ii. Demonstrable financial hardship in paying full fine amount.
 - iii. Gross annual income does not exceed 80% of area's median income.
 - iv. Disability prevented ability to comply and/or pay fine in full.
 - v. Deployed on active military duty during time code violation took place.
 - vi. No more than 3 code violations in prior calendar year.
 - vii. Agreement would preserve community interests in maintaining housing stock and preventing blight.

DISCUSSION

- viii. Property is residential in a low to moderate income area.
 - ix. Property has been inherited by a family member who seeks to negotiate within 12 months of transfer.
 - x. Actual City administrative costs do not exceed amount being negotiated.
 - xi. Rehabilitation Agreement is in best interest of City as violations in question create health/safety/welfare issues.
- b) Recommended negotiation limits:
- i. Community & Economic Development Director and designee(s) – up to $25,000.
 - ii. City Manager – up to $50,000.
 - iii. City Council – Greater than $50,000.

DISCUSSION

c) Owner Occupancy Covenants

- i. Cease utilizing.
- ii. Render properties unmarketable.
- iii. No data exists that supports the premise that renters/tenants do not properly maintain a property.
- iv. City's goals can be achieved with the use of Rehabilitation Agreements alone.

RECOMMENDATIONS

That the Inclusiveness, Community Engagement and Governmental Processes Committee:

1. Direct staff to either:

- 1) Discontinue negotiating code enforcement fines and executing rehabilitation agreements/owner occupancy covenants; or
- 2) Develop a formal policy authorizing the reduction of code enforcement fines as recommended by the Committee and return to City Council for action.
