BACKGROUND:

Summary (continued)

The Purchasing and Fleet Services Department seeks approval of Amendment No. 6 to the current agreements with Downs Energy and the SoCo Group for five years, to provide fuel supply continuity for the county's fleet. Each vendor has assigned locations that they service throughout the county as listed in the agreements. Overall cost of fuel is based on daily Oil Price Information Service (OPIS) average which is used for wholesale fuel pricing. OPIS is an organization that monitors the price of fuel at over 390 fuel storage/delivery locations across the country. The OPIS rack price is the wholesale price for fuel from the refineries our vendors pay when picking up fuel and can change at least 2 times per day. Both SoCo Group and Downs Energy apply a differential (or markup) as a cost of providing services.

The Purchasing and Fleet Services Department has 15 fuel sites located throughout the county to provide fuel for 4,371 vehicles (as of June 2016) within the county's fleet, as well as to other municipalities, cities, special districts, and state departments, such as the California Highway Patrol. Over the last three years, an average of 2.78 million gallons of fuel was dispensed through the county fuel sites. Fleet Services monitors the fuel site tanks to ensure fuel is available when county departments need it and schedule fuel deliveries with the vendors. Through these existing contracts, the vendors also provide fuel to sites managed by the Department of Waste Resources, TLMA, and Fire, in addition to other sites at various school districts, for a grand total of 104 locations.

Additionally, Downs Energy, located in Corona, provides services for card-lock/fuel cards, which are used by various departments when they cannot fuel their vehicle at one of the county fuel sites. This scenario commonly occurs along the I-15 corridor, where Fleet Services does not maintain fuel sites. Using these services allows county departments to take advantage of the negotiated fuel rates. Downs Energy also provides a smaller truck delivery system, known as bobtail fuel service, which is the name for a smaller truck used to supply fuel less than a standard full tank load. Some county sites require this type of service because the tanks are smaller and cannot accommodate a large fuel truckload.

Contract History and Price Reasonableness

On September 13, 2011 (3.73), the Board of Supervisors approved via the competitive process and authorized the Purchasing Agent to issue a five year agreement, renewed annually in one (1) year increments, based on the availability of fiscal funding and the adjusted aggregate amount based on Oil Price Information Service (OPIS) average and actual usage. As authorized by item 3.73, annual amendments were initiated by Purchasing for years 2-5 with no price increases to markup. The current amendment expires September 30, 2016.

Total differential for each contract vary depending on the size of the tank and site location. The estimated annual increase on the differentials (mark-up) for both amendments is $45,803, not accounting for any increases or decreases in the daily OPIS average for wholesale fuel pricing. This equates to .286% (less than 1%) between the two contract amounts. Having these companies located in the Cities of Corona, Perris and Indio allows for available fuel services during an emergency situation and provides local resources to support the County of Riverside and local municipalities' fleet fuel needs.

With the exceptions of the Department of Waste Resources, TLMA, and Fire, which maintain their own fuel sites, county departments and other municipalities, are billed for fuel usage by Fleet Services. Estimated costs are based on information extracted from Fleet Services' billing system from FY 15/16. Data from the billing system indicates 79.7% of the annual fuel costs are from general fund departments and the remaining 20.3% from non-general fund departments and other municipalities. Department costs vary based on fuel consumption.

The original award to Downs Energy and SoCo Group split service based on the lowest cost per delivery site between the two local vendors. Both vendors' markup (less than 1%) is considerably low compared to the overall contracts' costs. Based on current services with the companies, which provide good customer service and has performed well, combined with the overall low markup cost, the Purchasing and Fleet Services department recommends an amendment to the original contracts to continue fuel supply and services with these vendors. The two amendments extend the period of performance to October 1, 2021, with an option to renew an additional five years in one year increments.
